

Pediatric Services

Heartspring Pediatric Services offers a variety of therapies to children ages birth to 21. Our outpatient comprehensive facility is designed to allow families and professionals to work together to ensure progress across multiple settings. Therapists use hands-on therapeutic interventions in an individualized setting while teaching families how to implement strategies at home and in the community.

"I am so impressed with every therapist who works with my son. Everyone is so kind and patient, and they all are very helpful with offering solutions to any problems we may have."

Program Highlights

Aquatic Therapy

Aquatic physical and occupational therapy are beneficial for a variety of medical conditions. Aquatic therapy consists of an exercise program or therapeutic activities that are performed in the water under direct supervision of the therapist. It uses the physical properties of water to assist the child in exercise performance and is provided as an independent intervention or as an adjunct intervention to therapy provided in the clinic.

Cochlear Implant Mapping

Heartspring provides cochlear implant mapping to children with profound hearing loss. Prior to mapping, an audiological evaluation is completed to determine the child's current hearing abilities. Mapping is then provided with the goal of maximizing the child's access to speech and spoken language. After mapping, aural rehabilitation, or learning to listen, is an essential component in developing listening and spoken language skills for children with hearing loss.

Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC)

Our team of speech-language pathologists is dedicated to helping children embrace their strengths, overcome deficits, and learn authentic expression and connection.

At Heartspring, AAC is an integral part of speech therapy. From AAC devices to story boards and communication books, AAC helps children who are non-verbal or partially verbal have the tools they need for successful communication.

As such, we offer unique and creative AAC programs in the therapy room and outside of the therapy room. Some of our most popular AAC programs include group AAC therapy to help children form bonds with peers while modeling AAC with one another, and Camp AAChievable, a fun one-week summer camp designed to help children build social and communication skills using AAC.
